

ACTIVECYBER Launches After Acquisition of CTC-CYBER

Firm Expands Services to Deliver Superior Cybersecurity Insights to Organizational Stakeholders

Washington, D.C., November 7, 2016 – ACTIVECYBER, a premier provider of cybersecurity and risk management services, announced today its official launch after acquiring the full interest in CTC-Cyber. The acquisition allows ACTIVECYBER to focus on industry needs and expand its service offerings. The firm will provide organizational stakeholders with a deeper understanding of their cybersecurity risks and actionable recommendations to mitigate these risks.

ACTIVECYBER's new brand identity aligns with the firm's proprietary approach to cybersecurity: Advisory, Compliance, Testing, Implementation, Visibility and Education. ACTIVECYBER will continue to deliver specialized cybersecurity services to an array of industries, including law firms, associations, financial institutions and healthcare organizations.

"For decades our leadership team has been resolving discrete cybersecurity matters," said Dale Raymond, CEO of ACTIVECYBER. "With our enhanced resources and expanded services, we offer our clients a tailored approach to cybersecurity through customized programs based on their risk appetite, regulatory mandates and stakeholder requirements."

The ACTIVECYBER leadership team is equipped to respond to security breaches, demonstrate third-party compliance, test for employees' susceptibility to a phishing attack and provide comprehensive remediation efforts.

"Client requirements to stay ahead of cybersecurity issues have generated an incredible demand to enhance our portfolio of cybersecurity and risk management offerings. The shift in our company rebrand provides us with the flexibility and resources to support this demand, while our current operational, management and technical expertise remain intact," said Jason Paternostro, vice president of ACTIVECYBER.
